DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment of September 16, 2003 added new claims 12-55. Accordingly, the claims now under consideration are claims 1-6 and 8-55.
2. The rejections under Section 112 and 102 of record has been overcome by the arguments and/or amendments.

Claim objections

3. New claim 15, drawn to the method of claim 1 where in the compounds Ar is partial formula 2 (2,3-benzoxazin-1-one) and Y⁴ is methyl, is objected to because it is a substantial duplicate of claim 12 which is drawn to a method of claim 1 where the compounds are 4-methyl-2,3-benzoxazin-1-ones. The same compounds appear to be involved. Appropriate correction is required.

Obviousness-type Double Patenting

4. Claims 2-6, drawn to products, are again rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims of the Lehmann et al. U.S. Patents 6,245,804 and 6,344,454. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because overlapping subject matter and structurally related species are involved. Applicants' arguments have again been considered, but it is again maintained that the present compounds are encompassed by the generic formulas of the patents and would be obvious over such teachings.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 / 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 2-6, drawn to products, and claim 8, drawn to process of making, are again rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over the Lehmann et al. patents cited above. In addition to structurally related species, the patents generically disclose the present compounds. Where not anticipated, one would be motivated to prepare the present compounds from within the generic and species teachings of the references. In the absence of a showing of unexpected properties, no patentable significance is seen in the present selection. With respect to the process of making, see columns 13-20 of the patents.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1 and 9-55, drawn method of use, are allowed.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

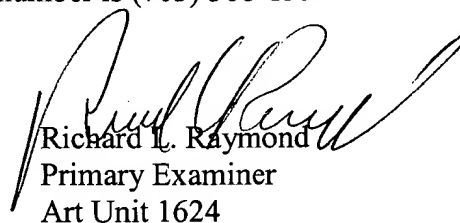

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
